LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL
from
THE SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

To His Excellency, the Honorable James B. Edwards, Governor of South Carolina, and to the Honorable Members of the General Assembly of South Carolina:

Dear Sirs:

We have the honor to transmit the report of the South Carolina State Library for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975.

We are particularly proud of the expansion of library services and the recognition accorded to library accomplishment. Library Director Estellene P. Walker was awarded an honorary degree from Presbyterian College and the State Library received a National Award from the American Library Association for its Bicentennial program, the American Patriot Reading Club. Technological improvements, especially the SOLINET Terminal, have vastly improved the service of the State Library. Aid to the County and Institutional Library has continued, as well as the special service to the Blind.

With considerable optimism we look forward to continued growth in the quantity of service to match the quality of service we can render to the people of South Carolina.

Respectfully submitted,

CARLANNA L. HENDRICK,
Chairman.

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

I. Administration

Agency Director

The Agency Director is the State Librarian who is responsible for the operation of the South Carolina State Library. She is employed by and is responsible to the Board of the State Library.

A. General Administration

Plans development and extension of library service; establishes and reviews policies; prepares and administers the annual budget; administers State and Federal aid for libraries; promotes the extension and improvement of library service; recommends library legislation.

B. Library Interpretation

Interprets the objectives and functions of the statewide library program; plans and carries out a statewide program of publicity and public relations designed to publicize the library and its services to the general public.

II. Technical Services

Acquires and makes available all materials used in the library program; catalogs and classifies books, serials and pamphlets; purchases and receives all materials; receives, stores and distributes periodicals and newspapers, classifies and/or catalogs all State and Federal documents received; prepares all materials for use, and maintains the book collection; is responsible for the microfilming of the entire catalog of the State Library and for maintaining the microfilm editions of the catalogs of the University of South Carolina and Clemson.

III. Field Services

A. Fosters the development and improvement of public library services; advises local officials, librarians and citizens through visits, surveys and correspondence; plans workshops and training programs; supervises the distribution of State Aid and other grant programs.

B. Career Education

The provision of training opportunities for public and institutional library employees; planning and supervision of the certification program for public librarians.

C. Library Services for the Disadvantaged

Consultant service to local libraries engaged in, or planning, projects in this area; supervision of local projects; reporting and evaluation of the program.

D. Film Service

Provision of a film loan service to qualifying public and institutional libraries through a contract with the existing film library at USC; training in use of films as a means of extending the informational resources of the local library.

IV. Public Library Building

Provides consultant service in planning of public and institutional library buildings; advises with architects and librarians on planning new library facilities; supervises the public library building construction program initiated under the Library Services and Construction Act and financed under a carry-over of funds from this program.

V. Readers Services

A. General Reader Service

Provides reference and research services to State Government, State Government agencies, and to State employees. Maintains and services the ERIC document collection. Selects books and other materials to be added to the general reference collection; prepares and publishes a monthly bibliography of new acquisitions and prepares special bibliographies and checklist of State documents.

B. Reference and Informational Service

Monitors In-WATS telephone request service from public and institutional libraries; fills reference requests and requests for interlibrary loans for libraries throughout the state; consultant service to local libraries on the maintenance of a strong reference collection; plans and provides workshops to increase the effectiveness of pre-professional library employees engaged in reference service.

VI. Special Services

A. Institutional Service

Plans and administers a program to establish, develop and improve library service in State institutions; supervises the library program in individual institutions and provides consultant service for library development in all institutions.

B. Service to Blind and Physically Handicapped

Plans and administers library service to the blind and physically handicapped; maintains liaison with the Library of Congress, Division for the Blind; maintains records of the eligible borrowers and of materials and equipment on loan; provides guidance to readers in selection of books; supervises five browsing collections of talking books in local public libraries.

VII. Information Network

The coordination of library resources of the state to better serve the people of the state. The establishment and supervision of a TWX network for rapid interlibrary communication; publication of a monthly newsletter for libraries in the state; consultant service to the Area Reference Resource Centers in Charleston, Greenville, and Florence.

THE SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT THE SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

July 1, 1974 - June 30, 1975

Established by Legislative Act No. 464 in 1969, the present South Carolina State Library incorporates the former South Carolina State Library Board and the old State Library. The agency's responsibilities include all the duties of a general State Library comprising statewide planning, development, and coordination of the library resources and services in the state. The State Library provides reference, bibliographic, and interlibrary loan service to supplement community and regional library resources of the state. It provides leadership and participates in the development of statewide plans involving all types of libraries. It continuously reviews both Federal and State legislation affecting library service in order to maintain a legal climate conducive to total library growth and development. It gathers, compiles, interprets, publishes, and disseminates annual statistics on public, academic, and institutional libraries. It is the central information source concerning the library development of the state. In carrying out these responsibilities and the specific responsibilities imposed on it by law, the State Library has established the following basic objectives: (1) To provide comprehensive library services and resources to the people of South Carolina, providing every individual access to the information resources of the state; (2) To furnish reference, loan, and research services to State government and State government agencies.

READER SERVICES

The Reader Services Department is responsible for providing assistance in the use of the reference and information resources of the State Library. Members of State government and State agencies make direct use of the library's resources. Citizens of the State have access to the library's services through their local public libraries.

REFERENCE AND INFORMATION SERVICE FOR STATE GOVERNMENT

Access to current and retrospective information is a basic requirement for effective government. A primary responsibility of the State Library is to provide research service and educational materials to meet the needs of State government and State agencies. To serve as an information center, the State Library maintains a strong collection of books, periodicals, microforms, and documents for use by all agencies of State government and reduces unnecessary duplication of expensive books and materials in the various agencies. A staff of highly trained researchers works with library users to achieve the maximum benefit of all resources. In addition to materials available locally, the latest communication equipment is used to draw on other specialized collections throughout South Carolina and the nation.

The staff maintains regular contact with State agencies to inform them of the library's services and to encourage their employees to make use of the library. Since materials are constantly being added to the collection, the State Library publishes and distributes monthly a selected listing of items entitled "New Resources".

Library use statistics demonstrate the success of the library's many services. In 1970-71, the first full year of operation, 2,170 books were borrowed by employees of State government and State agencies and 640 reference questions were answered. During 1974-75, 12,458 books were borrowed and 4,049 questions were answered. These statistics represent a 500% increase in use of the State Library during the past five years.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE

To provide rapid service to members of the General Assembly, a researcher from the State Library maintained a desk in the Legislative Council during statewide sessions to receive information requests. With a direct line to the State Library, requests for research were transmitted for prompt processing. In addition to serving members of the General Assembly, the State Library researcher worked closely with House and Senate researchers who used the State Library's collection to assist them in their work. During the year, legislators or their researchers borrowed 148 books, submitted 119 reference requests and received 1,300 pages of photocopy in answer to questions.

REFERENCE AND INTERLIBRARY LOAN SERVICE

The reference and interlibrary loan service of the State Library serves as a center for a statewide library network supplying specialized books and other materials to South Carolinians through their local libraries. The book collection of the State Library supplements those of the local libraries. When material requested is not available at the local level, the request is transmitted via In-WATS directly to the State Library. The utilization of telephone service enables interlibrary loan requests to be submitted and processed rapidly. Presently, 90% of all requests received by the State Library are processed within twenty-four hours and the remainder within forty-eight hours. In an attempt to make its resources more readily available, the State Library during the year placed microfilm copies of its card catalog in thirty-five public libraries throughout South Carolina. This microfilm catalog which will be kept up-to-date by annual supplements enables public libraries to determine the holdings of the State Library in a matter of seconds.

To provide the highest level of service it is necessary for the State Library to make use of other major collections within the State as well as the nation. In order to gain quick access to the major collections within South Carolina, the State Library has microfilmed copies of the card catalogs of Clemson University and the University of South Carolina, making it easy to draw upon the resources of the State's two major university libraries. At times the reference and interlibrary loan service must also attempt to locate and borrow materials from libraries across the nation in order to meet the information needs of South Carolinians. To facilitate this operation, the State Library has become a member of SOLINET (Southeastern Library Network). Drawing on a computerized data base of over 1,500,000 items, representing the holdings of over 400 major libraries, the State Library can quickly determine the location of needed materials. Requests can be transmitted rapidly to holding libraries through the library's teletypewriter facilities. In most cases, materials will be received promptly.

To keep personnel in the local public libraries aware of basic reference techniques, the reference staff conducted four regional reference workshops attended by 130 people. These workshops not only improve the quality of local reference service, but they also result in more effective use of the State's library resources.

During the year the reference and interlibrary loan service received 3,536 In-WATS telephone calls, answered 2,943 reference requests, and supplied 13,875 books and 6,413 pages of photocopy in reply to interlibrary loan requests.

GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

In 1970 the South Carolina State Library began a concentrated effort to establish a complete collection of South Carolina State documents and the library is now the major depository for such materials. During the year 1,273 publications were added to the collection bringing the total number of documents to 14,996. The existing holdings have proved to be invaluable to researchers from this State and from others. The documents provide up-to-date statistical information as well as serving as a good base for historical research on South Carolina. As the collection becomes better known, more and more State agencies are referring individuals to the State Library to use their publications which are no longer available for distribution, reducing additional publication costs and unnecessary distribution of State publications. Annually the State Library compiles and publishes the Checklist of South Carolina State Publications which lists publications of State governmental departments which were received by the State Library during the fiscal year.

TECHNICAL SERVICES

The Technical Services Department coordinated the selection and ordered and processed all materials for the State Library collection including large type books and audio-visual materials. The collection includes, in addition to books, Federal and State documents, periodicals and newspapers in both paper and microform, and the ERIC and other services in microfiche. Additions during the year are as follows:

	Additions	Totals
Books	7,802	119,570
State Documents	1,273	14,996
Federal Documents	2,098	8,813
Microfilm (reels)	657	8,315
Microfiche	19,469	67,648

The second microfilm edition of the State Library's card catalog was prepared during the year and prints in cassettes sent to the Area Reference Resource Centers in Greenville, Charleston, and Florence. Copies of the catalog on reel microfilm were sent to county and regional libraries to facilitate and expedite interlibrary loan service.

The State Library joined the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET) and plans to use the system for all future cataloging

The on-line computer terminal at the State Library enables the staff to scan the resources of libraries throughout the county and immediately locate material and information needed to fill interlibrary loan and reference requests of libraries from throughout the state.

AMERICAN PATRIOT READING CLUB A STATEWIDE LIBRARY BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM

The American Patriot Reading Club was planned by the South Carolina State Library as a major Bicentennial program for libraries throughout the state. The reading club, for children and young people, was designed to inculcate an appreciation of American ideals and of America's past, to help a child to identify with the history of his state and nation, and to give him an opportunity to learn more about the history of his own community and its place in the history of the state. Conducted during the summers of 1974 and 1975, the project was jointly sponsored by the South Carolina State Library and the South Carolina American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. South Carolina public, institutional, military, and naval libraries participated in the project. Local historical societies contributed to the success of the project by providing speakers and sponsoring visits to local historical sites. The club carried out the themes of the American Revolution Bicentennial, 1776-1976: Heritage, Festivals, and Horizons. The South Carolina State Library received national recognition for this program and was presented the John Cotton Dana national public relations award for this statewide reading program stimulating interest in the Bicentennial celebration.

Between 80,000 and 100,000 children participated in the program during the two summers. Children who completed the requirements of the reading club received a handsome certificate and public recognition of their achievement. Although the program was specifically designed for children and young people, anyone interested was eligible to join. Adults were so interested in the program that the State Library published a reading list for adults based on readable materials in South Carolina history.

FIELD SERVICES

The Field Services program is responsible for the administration of State Aid to county and regional libraries and provides supervision and direction for Title I projects under the Library Services and Construction Act. In pursuit of their primary objective—to provide direct assistance in establishing and improving public library service—the Field Staff were engaged in a variety of activities including: development and reorganization of county or regional library systems; orientation and general supervision of untrained librarians; consultation and advisory assistance to professional librarians or library boards in overcoming local problems; assistance in planning and carrying out progressive measures for the improvement of library service in the area served; and planning and supervision of specific LSCA projects. This year the Field Staff did much more in-depth work with county librarians in all areas of library work—administration, reference, circulation, and extension. This is largely due to an increase in the number of professionally-trained librarians who now head county libraries. The more complicated and specialized level of work is a result of further development and expansion of library programs and of the maturation of both Field Staff and of public library administrators.

Among the highlights of the year were the planning and preparation of two statewide workshops: a film workshop held in September and an April workshop on children's services. During 1974-75 the four Field Service Librarians:

- worked with 39 library systems serving 46 counties.
- made 214 field trips.
- attended 52 local board meetings.
- assisted with library budgets totalling approximately $7 million in local funds.
- administered $906,681 in State Aid grants to public libraries.
- supervised 17 LSCA projects providing $633,507.35 in grants-in-aid.
- represented the State Library at local, state, and national conferences, conventions, workshops, professional associations, building dedications, civic organizations, and other state and local agencies.
- provided recruiting, placement, and training services for public librarians.

STATE AID TO PUBLIC LIBRARIES

State Aid to public libraries in South Carolina is predicated on local effort. To qualify for State Aid, county and regional libraries must meet minimum standards of organization, service, and financial support. Because the State provides supplementary funds to strengthen library support, South Carolina public libraries are making progress in providing adequate collections of library materials and services and in employing trained staff to make these materials and services more useful to the people of the state. Libraries in 46 counties are participating in the State Aid program and received a total of $906,680.60 in State funds during the year.

FEDERAL AID TO PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Since 1956 Federal aid from the Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) has provided an additional source of support for public libraries and, more recently, for State institutional libraries. LSCA funds have been used to establish service and to improve levels of service in county and regional libraries and State institutions. Participating libraries must meet certain minimum requirements of personnel and financial support and demonstrate performance in the area affected by specific programs. Over the years LSCA funds have enabled public libraries and State institutional libraries in South Carolina to underwrite innovative or experimental projects, pilot or demonstration programs, and specific services and programs developed in response to changing needs.

As of 1973, another source of Federal funds for public libraries has been municipal and county Revenue Sharing funds. To date, these Revenue Sharing funds have been used by libraries primarily for nonrecurring expenditures and capital improvements.

FILM PROGRAM

As a means of extending the informational resources of the public libraries of the state, the State Library has established a film program to provide a central collection of 16mm adult films for loan to public and institutional libraries. In order to avoid expensive duplication of personnel and equipment, the State Library contracts with the Instructional Services Center of the University of South Carolina to maintain and distribute the films. To aid the libraries in the state to make the best use of the new film service, the State Library has employed a film consultant who works closely with public and institutional libraries in planning for the use of the films and in training the staff to handle this new service. By the close of its first year of operation, 31 libraries were using the films in organized film programs in community service.

CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR LIBRARIANS

The State Library provides in-service training opportunities for staff members of public and institutional libraries. Grants are awarded to professional and pre-professional librarians to attend workshops or institutes as well as regularly scheduled courses in library science. During 1974-75, scholarships were granted to seven pre-professional librarians from seven county and regional library systems to take basic courses in the areas of children's literature, cataloging and classification, reference services, and selection and acquisition of materials. Three professional librarians also received grants to attend seminars in consulting, technical services, and an American Library Association Pre-conference on Library Architecture.

During the year the State Library sponsored two state-wide workshops for public and State institutional librarians. A film workshop, held in September, was attended by approximately 75 librarians; and in attendance at an April workshop on children's service were about 80 librarians.

LIBRARY SERVICE TO THE DISADVANTAGED

To encourage the extension of public library service to the disadvantaged population, the State Library provides grants-in-aid to 21 county and regional libraries to conduct projects providing library service to this group. Projects based on local needs and conditions are presently being conducted in 25 counties serving disadvantaged urban and/or rural populations. Through these projects some 100,000 South Carolinians are being reached through programs which provide library service on a level to which this special clientele can respond. These grants-in-aid have made it possible for the participating libraries to employ necessary personnel, provide transportation, develop collections of reading and AV materials, and purchase special equipment needed to implement the services. As the projects develop, libraries are finding that they become an integral part of their library program and are using more local funds in their support.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION

For the past twelve years the State Library has administered funds under Title II of the Library Services and Construction Act to assist county and regional libraries in the construction of headquarters and branch library buildings. This Title of the Act is no longer being funded, but libraries are participating in Revenue Sharing funds for local library construction. Appalachian Regional Commission funds are also available to aid in library construction in that six-county area.

During the year the Laurens County Library completed a branch in Joanna, the Kershaw County Library one in Bethune, and the Georgetown County Library one in Andrews. Construction was begun on the headquarters of the Hampton County Library in Hampton, the Great Falls Branch of the Chester County Library, and of a major branch of the Beaufort County Library on Hilton Head. Renovations under way include that of the old jail building in Saluda to house the Saluda County Library, the North Augusta Branch of the Aiken County Library, and the Blacksburg Branch of the Cherokee County Library.

County libraries which had received Federal grants to aid in construction and renovation of existing buildings included the Marion, Greenwood, and Fairfield county libraries. Construction of the Marion building is well under way, and planning of the library facilities in Greenwood and Winnsboro are nearing completion.

INSTITUTIONAL LIBRARY SERVICE

To insure a good level of service to the institutionalized, the State Library assists State supported institutions in the establishment and maintenance of libraries. It is an objective of the State Library's program that institutional libraries be established and developed as components in the treatment and rehabilitation of residents. In carrying out this program, the State Library provides grants-in-aid to the institutions for the purchase of books, periodicals and audio-visual materials appropriate to the purpose of each institution.

During the year three State hospitals, twelve adult and juvenile correctional institutions, and four residential schools for the physically handicapped and the mentally retarded were provided with grants-in-aid on the basis of their population, local support and special needs.

Special collections and services were provided to four State institutions too small to maintain a full library program. The South Carolina Crippled Children's Convalescent Center is provided library service under a three-way contract with the Florence County Library and the State Library. The three State alcohol and drug addiction centers received a collection of paperback books for use either by the residents or in group therapy.

LIBRARY SERVICES TO THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

The South Carolina State Library, Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped provides library services to those individuals unable to read conventional print. This service, which consists of books and magazines in recorded form (disc and tape), braille, and in large print, is administered by the South Carolina State Library under a contract with the Library of Congress. Most readers use a recorded form and for them the library supplies a sound reproducer (either a talking book machine or a cassette playback machine). A contract is maintained with the North Carolina State Library for braille and large print service. The service, including postage costs, is free to the readers.

As of June 30, 1975, the library had 2,704 registered readers, an increase of 599 during the year. These readers read 60,187 books and 17,292 magazines, a marked increase over last year. Over 5,000 books were added to the collection this year.

During the next few years the recorded book on disc will be phased out and all new titles will be recorded on cassette tape.

During the year the library purchased high speed tape duplicating equipment, which will allow it to be more responsive to the needs of its readers. Books on local subjects can be recorded and extra copies of other titles can be made to satisfy immediate needs.

The service is chiefly a mail order service from Columbia, but five county libraries provide browsing collections of several hundred talking books. These counties are Anderson, Charleston, Greenville, Richland, and Spartanburg. A professional librarian assists the handicapped reader who wishes to use the public library. All other public libraries participate in this project as well. They publicize the program on the local level, help find potential readers, assist the library in locating inactive readers, and in retrieving unused equipment.

LIBRARY LEGISLATION ENACTED. 1975

- S. C. Acts and Joint Resolutions, 1975; No. 100. An act to classify tax levies for the operation and maintenance of the Anderson County Library and prohibit exemption from taxation.
- S. C. Acts and Joint Resolutions, 1975; No. 381. An act to create the Darlington County Library in Darlington County.
